

Look out for the first edition of Inside Teaching, the professional journal of the Australasian Teacher Regulatory Authorities (ATRA), published online by the Australian Council for Educational Research, and accessible from 19 April. Inside Teaching looks at the latest research findings and addresses the issues facing the profession, with content by educators for educators that has hands-on, practical application, to offer you new ideas and promote reflection on practice.

Visit <http://insideteaching.realviewtechnologies.com>

IN THE APRIL EDITION

Inside Teaching talks with chairman Jonathan Welch and award-winning author, and school principal, John Marsden; visits Sydney's Key College to discover some of the secrets to helping disadvantaged students; looks at the tricky business of measuring teacher quality; offers teaching tips from experienced and beginning teachers; gets the latest research on Indigenous outcomes; turns the clock back to 1969 with Wendy Harmer; and much more.

ABOUT ATRA

ATRA was established in 2005 to facilitate the cooperative and collaborative work of Australian and New Zealand teacher registration and accreditation authorities. Inside Teaching reaches teachers registered or accredited by the New South Wales Institute of Teachers, the Queensland College of Teachers, the Teacher Registration Board of the Northern Territory, the Teachers Registration Board of South Australia, the Teachers Registration Board of Tasmania, the Victorian Institute of Teaching and the Western Australian College of Teaching.